

Growing Apples in New York – The Possibility of Renewable Energy

Chip Bailey, KC Bailey Orchards, Inc. - Williamson, NY

This session will discuss growing apples in the State of New York, as well as the possibilities of using renewable energy on farms.

Upon graduating from Cornell University in 1984 with a BS in Pomology, Chip founded what is today KC Bailey Orchards, Inc. and has operated it with wife, Karla, since 1987. Chip has served on the American Farm Bureau Young Farmer Committee and Horticultural Committee and was previously the President of the Wayne County Farm Bureau and Lake Country Cold Storage, Inc. Chip also served as a board member of the Western New York Apple Growers Association.
