

Insuring Your Crop Against Hail

Rachel Molitor, Compeer Financial - Waite Park, MN

During my presentation we will go through the different hail plans of insurance most commonly used for fruit and vegetable growers. I will cover what insurance providers Compeer Financial writes hail insurance with and also speak to the different deadlines that are applicable to growers when they are taking out a hail insurance policy. Every grower is unique and should tailor their risk management needs to their operation and the goals they have to protect their business from an event like a hail storm.

Rachel Molitor is an Insurance Officer with Compeer Financial, she is part of a trusted team of experienced professionals that are dedicated to providing risk management solutions for both crop and livestock operations. Rachel focuses a lot of her attention on utilizing precision technology to create efficiencies for her producers along with providing exclusive technology for her clients to make sound risk management decisions based on their own data. Anywhere from row crops, fruits & vegetables, milk, feeder, and fat cattle there is a solution to mitigate risk on your farm, she is here to help! She grew up on a dairy and beef farm in Central MN and currently farms with her husband and 2 year old daughter near her hometown.